VOL. II. RALEIGH, N. C., MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 29, 1867. NO. 223.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PEEL, PROPRIETOR.

THE FREEDMEN AS CITIZENS—SENATOR WILSON'S MISSION.

In two respects Mr. Wilson's mission might have been expected to give better assurance of practical success than it has done thus far. If that mission was undertaken with the view of spreading sound political information among all classes at the South, it is unfortunate that his audiences both at Orange and at Richmond have been made up, ten to one, of a single class. Equally unfortunate is it that the addresses delivered at both points, in so far as they have been intelligibly reported, deal rather with party achievements and party claims, than present the clear indices of broad political truth. Few men of common sense belonging to either side in politics, think of questioning the great advantage of having a free and full discussion of current questions throughout the South, as throughout the North. There, as here, freedom of speech now means more than the right of assenting to the decrees of what was but the other day a domineering sectional majority. And if the stand-point from which Mr. Wilson addresses his Southern auditors is that of a mere electioneering agent, the temper and bearing of his address, especially that delivered at Richmond, need not be called in question. What, however, will occur to many reflecting people here and in Virginia is, that when this grand opportunity has at last presented itself of bringing Northern political teachers (if they cannot be called statesmen,) face to face with the people of the South, there should exist among the most influential class even a latent suspicion, of the motives of the speaker. That suspicion doubtless gave to the Richmond assemblage the complexion it bore—six thousand or more blacks to a few hundred whites of no very exalted character, with few exceptions. On the other hand, the absence of the intelligent class may have reacted on the speaker and his efforts. Without being rudely offensive to the absent class, the address could be said to have no merit beyond an ordinary electioneering speech, with this much additional to detract from it—that it was mainly addressed not to a general or even a party gathering, but to a single class in the community. How far that class—many of whom in their former condition of slaves must have heard Mr. Seward's name for years and years among the foremost of the friends of freedom—understood or relished Mr. Wilson's abuse of the Secretary of State, we do not know. But those of them possessed of common intelligence could hardly, we should suppose, help wondering that the bitterest invectives of the speaker were reserved for those who had been fighting the cause of the slave long before Mr. Wilson's name or authority was known outside of the mutual admiration circles of his State.

It is not easy to portray, in its full magnitude, the permanent mischief that may be wrought in the political structure of Southern society by party appeals addressed to any one class in the community. The evil will not begin to develop itself fully until the newly enfranchised class, having voted, having been coaxed and entreated to vote, begin to find of what consequence they really are in their State or in their election district. Like other races and classes, they are not likely to remain long in ignorance that there is a consideration attached to the possession of the franchise, and that that consideration grows in value as voters of the same race or creed or class combine to go to the polls in a solid body. If Mr. Wilson does not carry his course of political instruction so far as to let his colored audiences know how the value of a "solid" vote is estimated in New York, he will shortly be followed by other instructors who will make the matter sufficiently clear. Thirty or forty years' trial of the class voting system here has done more to show how the franchise may be turned to profitable account than anything else in the history of municipal government. The same thing will be illustrated all over the South, precisely in proportion as masses of people of the same kith are dragged into a common booth, to be made merchandise of by their own leaders, or by designing men of another class.

If, then, missions and missionaries from the North are to be employed in spreading political information at the South, it cannot be too strongly urged that results permanently beneficial, either to blacks or whites, or to the country at large, are only possible if party propagandism is subordinated to a fair and candid statement of the situation. Any sort of political enterprise that aims to use the freedmen as a voting class—whether that enterprise is in the hands of General Wade Hampton or Senator Wilson—will begin in their corruption and end in their political destruction.—New York Times.

Mr. Wilson is reported as having said in Richmond that the South, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, was to be divided into two great political organizations—"on the one side, those who still believed in human slavery, and on the other those who believed in the freedom of all men." This is disingenuous, to say the least. The two political parties into which the Radicals would divide the South will have naught to do with slavery. That is an issue of the past. But prominent amongst the Radical leaders are Brownlow, Warren, Holden, Hunnicut, and others, who have been noted for their life-long violent pro-slaveryism. Indeed, as a rule, it will be found that the more violent and proscriptive a Radical is in the South to-day, the more ultra and vindictive a pro-slavery advocate he was yesterday.

Mr. Wilson can make no such issue as this. The question is not one of slavery or freedom. It is not even of negro suffrage. The war settled the first; the military bill provides for the latter. Negro suffrage is an accomplished rule throughout the entire South. But the vital question for the Southern people is, whether they will affiliate with a party which recognizes no obligations of constitutional law, but which proposes to erect a consolidated government, in which the will of the majority shall be the law, without reference to the provisions of the Constitution or the decisions of the courts.—National Intelligencer.

LOUISIANA REGISTRATION.—Advices from New Orleans state that under General Sheridan's registers but a small portion of whites are being registered, Sheridan placing upon the list of the proscribed all ex-parish or township, as well as county officers. Upon this basis the loyalists will carry every Congressional District in the State.—Wash. Cor. Phil. Inquirer, April 24.

Brownlow's own Radical ward in Knoxville has gone against him in the election of a Conservative alderman.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophies, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the maledic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

WM. E. PELL, } SEATON GALES, EDITORS.

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 29, 1867.

THE RECONSTRUCTION.

The people of the South, so far as we can judge, in the interests of peace and the future weal of the country, seem determined to reconstruct the Southern States on the basis of the Congressional platform. This is not accepted, to use the common phraseology, because it is the best that we can get, but it is obeyed, because it is law.

The Reconstruction Acts are deemed by all considerate men, men possessing ordinary humanity or ordinary patriotism, to be sufficiently harsh, humiliating and stringent, to effect any purpose the government may have, to punish for the past or to secure indemnity for the future. Those who insist upon harsher terms, may well be placed beyond the ordinary sympathies of men, as either very bad men or very poor statesmen, or both.

As to the demands of Congress, there is really no room for differences among the real friends of reconstruction. The plan is so simple and specific, that no ground is left for doubt as to its meaning, and the requisition upon the voter and the office-holder is so positive and clear, as to leave no room for the exercise of an unrestrained choice. Only such and such men can vote or hold office under the new regime, and the right and duty to vote, on the part of the enfranchised, and the course of the office-holder, are so plainly pointed out, and both are so controlled by results, as to make the duty almost imperious. There are considerations bearing upon the future weal of the State, which make it the positive duty of the enfranchised to execute the law precisely as Congress has passed it. Why desire to go beyond? Reason, propriety, humanity and statesmanship, all demand that the execution of the law, as it stands, must be a finality.

We have repeatedly affirmed, that we stand with those who are for the execution of the law, strictly, fairly, impartially. We will neither contend for anything less, and we must oppose anything more. We desire for our people a peaceful solution of our difficulties. Those who clamor for harsher measures, neither want peace nor reconstruction. Those who would go beyond the Congressional platform, in their demands for punitive measures against the Southern people, are led by passion and prejudice. Reason seems to have lost its control over such minds. Shall they prevail? We hope not.

We have said there is no room, in the execution of the law, for parties or platforms. The Congress has given us the platform to which we must come. It is a presumption in the Southern people, so long as they are [illegible] of the government, by the formation of parties. If the dominant, controlling party in the government desire the South to be Republicanized or radicalized, instead of employing force to accomplish it, they should rely upon persuasion and conviction to do their work. It is reasonable to suppose, that that party would not object to the acquisition of the social and intellectual force of the South to its already enormous strength. It would seem that the acquisition of the vicious and the ignorant, only, would not add to its strength. If its principles and designs are wise and good, the virtue and intelligence of the South can be brought to see them in good time, when the reconstruction is effected.

What we want, in the South, in order to reconstruction, are harmony and co-operation among ourselves. If our people are sincere in their desire for reconstruction, what is there to quarrel or differ about?—The Congress has given us the law and demands our obedience. Why insist upon going further, when it only tends to division and strife? Are those to be blamed who insist upon strict obedience to the law? Are they the agitators, who insist upon it that the law shall be carried out fairly and fully? Those who call themselves Republicans in North Carolina are not satisfied with the law. They are not content that it shall be fairly carried out.—They demand more than this, and, to accomplish it, they are determined to agitate. Upon whose shoulders must rest the responsibility?

Again we urge our readiness to unite our people upon the one simple platform of the Congress. We agree that only those shall vote in North Carolina, whom the Congress says shall vote. We agree that only those shall hold office, whom the Congress says shall hold office. We agree that those disabilities shall exist as long as Congress says they shall, but no longer. This is the law, and we obey the law. Is not this Republican enough? Is not this Radical enough?

Now we belong to no party but the Union party. We have affiliated with no other, and held no other principles, since the war, but Union principles. We have desired nothing else, labored for nothing else and advocated nothing else, since the war, but the union of our people for the sake of the Union. We have looked to the restoration of the Union, under the Constitution, as the only platform upon which we have stood and for which we have labored. We desire nothing short of restoration and quiet and peace, under the flag of the Union, in the speediest manner, and on principles that will make the Union perpetual and the glory of our whole country brighter and more enduring than that of all others.

The Daily Journal (Democrat), of Newark, N. J., advocates the election of George Peabody as President of the United States.

"If the visit of a single prominent stump speaker from the North creates such a sensation, how will it be when a hundred or more political missionaries from the North go South to enlighten the Southern heathen?"

We copy the foregoing from a Radical paper published in Chicago. It is speaking with reference to the effect of some Radical emissary's stumping tour through the South. The concluding sentence of the extract betrays the asinus of the Radicals and the estimate which they place upon the intelligence of our people. "To enlighten the Southern heathen!" "Heathen"—in what? In morals? There has been less crime in North Carolina, even under the extraordinary and unsettled condition of things, during the last two years, than occurs in the "Christian" and "godly" city of Chicago in six months. In politics? No matter by whom conferred, the negro has privileges in the South to-day, which are denied to him in nearly every one of the States in which there is Radical ascendancy.

One of Dickens' famous characters is a Mrs. Jellaby, who, to the utter neglect of her own children, who lived in rags and dirt, was the active head of a great society for the amelioration and enlightenment of the "heathen," several thousand miles away. Jellaby-ism is rampant throughout the North just now.

As these political emissaries, however, are sent to "enlighten" our colored people, almost exclusively, they must be the "heathen" referred to. We hope that they will properly appreciate the compliment.

A missionary, visiting a "heathen" island, enquired of some native whether a Rev. Mr. So-and-so, who had preceded him in his pious mission, some time before, was not a very good man. "Mighty good," said the native; "me eat some of him!" Our Radical missionaries are in no danger of being eaten in this "heathen" land. They are not "good" enough. But we hope our colored people will invent some satisfactory process for finding out how good they are. And we know of no better plan than by catechizing them as to how they treat the heathen at home.

"The Radicals have possession of Tennessee and Missouri. In the former, Brownlow's militia murdered a man a short time ago, because somebody said he had once been a guerrilla, and in the latter Gov. Fletcher had a gentleman arrested, the other day, and put in the penitentiary, where he was clothed in the garb of a convict and kept several days, without ever having the formality of a charge entered against him in any Court."—Louisville Journal.

There is not one of the five "Districts" that is not in a better condition, to-day, than either Tennessee or Missouri, under Radical sway, in the Union. It is this circumstance,—the evident purpose that exists, among the North Carolina Radicals, to bring about the condition of things that has produced such results in those States,—that inspires our opposition to them. If they would be wise and learn a lesson from what is before them, if they would exhibit a little charity and moderation, if they would express themselves content with what Congress has done, without desiring to go beyond and cumulate severities and punishments upon our people, and their neighbors they could at once tranquilize the public mind. They refuse to say or do this—they threaten and endeavor to browbeat,—and they are responsible for all the excitement that exists. They are the only agitators we have.

THE NEW YORK Herald says that "Gen. Sickles, in the Second district, North and South Carolina, has been very fortunate in having sensible and practical governors and civil officers generally to deal with. In cheerfully consulting and co-operating with him, the result is perfect harmony and smooth sailing to the military and civil authorities, and perfect order and peace among the people."

The Standard virtually arraigns Gen. Sickles for this accord and for having requested our "sensible and practical" governor to confer with the people in the various sections of the State and ascertain and suggest the names of suitable persons, duly qualified, to act as Registers of voters.—This is the only effort that has been made to interrupt the "perfect harmony and smooth sailing."

Gov. Worth will never interpose the slightest obstacle in the way of re-construction under the law of Congress.

THE CINCINNATI Gazette, Radical, says:—"We should give the result in the fifteen States which held slaves in 1860, as follows: Missouri, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, Radical; Maryland, Delaware, Kentucky, Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama," Conservative. This may be a great mistake, but we put it on record to compare hereafter with the results."

The Gazette knows as little of the status of popular opinion in the South, as it does of the character of our people, which it so studiously and constantly misrepresents.—Its "prediction" as to North Carolina will fail. That is our prophecy.

AN ORDER.—We have been shown an order from Captain S. B. Smith, agent of the Freedmen's Bureau in this county, addressed to the negroes, reminding them that, as citizens of the States, it is "especially necessary" that they meet promptly and unmurmuringly the demands made upon them for State and county taxes, and that they are expected to do so. The order was occasioned by a refusal on the part of some of the freedmen to meet these demands.—Loudoun (Va.) Mirror.

Very commendable in Capt. Smith. The Standard, some time since, advised our people not to pay their taxes, and it has not withdrawn the advice, notwithstanding the fact that Gen. Sickles, in General Order No. 10, expressly enjoins their collection.

William Jordan, for thirty years the editor of the London Literary Gazette, in an autobiographical work lately published, says that Hood's "Song of the Shirt" was begun and so far proceeded with under the title of "Tale of a Shirt," before the ludicrous equivoque struck the intense mind of the author? Such a title certainly might have created the reverse of a grave association.

STATE ITEMS.

——Gen. Sickles passed through Wilmington, on Friday, en route for Fayetteville.

—— The Richmond papers state that the ladies of the Hollywood Bazaar receive daily supplies of fresh flowers from North Carolina, which are always gladly received and handsomely arranged.

—— The Odd Fellows of Wilson, in accordance with a proclamation from the Grand Master of the United States, observed Friday last as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. The Rev. Joel W. Tucker delivered an address upon the occasion, which is spoken of, by the Carolinian, in very high terms.

—— Hon. Henry Wilson is to address the people of Wilmington, on Wednesday. It is possible that he may be replied to.

—— Two companies of colored troops, a portion of the 40th. Regiment, are to garrison Goldsboro. They have been, for some time past, stationed at Fort Johnson.

—— They have a good hotel, at last, in Wilmington. It is kept by Capt. H. U. Parker, and, the Journal says, is managed in first-rate style.

—— James H. Harris addressed a large concourse of the colored people of Halifax, a few days since. His speech is represented, by the State, to have been of a conciliatory and conservative character. We copy from the State:

"He said he felt it his especial duty to tell them that confiscation was only a trap set to catch their votes. [Excitement.]—That the Dutch and Irish boys in blue fought for their pay, and not for negro emancipation. "Who tells you that the government is going to give you the lands of your former masters is a knave and a liar. If you think I am deceiving you, the illusion will be very soon dispelled." [Here the most intense excitement prevailed—voices crying out, 'We want you to tell us the stark bare-footed truth.'] "I came here to speak the truth, and I have spoken it. I have offended some, I am aware, and to me it is a matter of indifference." The speaker concluded by advising his hearers to pledge their votes to no one."

Sil Barnes, another colored man, also spoke, and the same paper furnishes an abstract of his remarks:

"He said (among other things) that the negroes' duty is to labor. Politics was the rock on which the Union was dissolved, and I advise my race to steer aloof from it. He said no man who had been kind to him should ever have any but his best wishes. And his best friends, those tried before and since the war, are those with whom he had been raised, and in whose service he had spent the happiest days of his life. Give me, said he, the educated gentleman; he's our friend by instinct. For himself, he would not give Col. N. M. Long for any Reed, he cared not on what murky slough it had grown. The former he could rely upon. The latter he had no confidence in.

He loved his old master, and felt towards him as if he had been his father. He would fight for him! Though he never worked for him while a slave, he would labor for him now. He defied any white man to exceed him in politeness. He thought politeness the sweetest and cheapest potato ever offered in any market. He only asked credit for what he had done. He had waited on Confederate soldiers while sick and wounded. He did so because he loved them. (Here the speaker was interrupted by the house, and closed.)"

The Rev. alluded to in the foregoing was a delegate to the Holdenite meeting in this city, on the 27th of March, and is understood to be a candidate for the Convention.

—— Conway has been speechifying in Wilmington and endeavoring to excite the blacks against the whites. The Journal and Dispatch are both justly severe upon him. The latter says:

"We did not learn, however, whether he told the negroes the whole truth, by admitting that, at the South, their social status is superior to his own; nor are we certain whether the negroes expressed a willingness to waive their rank, as his undoubted superiors, and permit him to occupy an equal status with themselves."

—— There is a remarkable clock on exhibition in Capt. Davis' Jewelry Store in Salisbury. When the minute hand reaches the figure 12, a little door near the top of the clock opens, and a little bird comes out and repeats the cry peculiar to the quail four times—the number of quarters; and this occurs at every quarter—immediately after which a little door on the other side opens, and another little bird comes out and cries "Cookoo" the number of times which the hour hand indicates, and then flutters back and closes the door as the quail had done. The Old North State says the clock is an object of much interest, and many are calling to see it every day.

For the Sentinel.

"As to our principles, we shall, with every other press in the State, advocate a final and eternal separation from the Federal Government, and shall support those men whose ability and integrity we think best calculated to effect this object."

The above is taken from a number of a certain newspaper in North Carolina, issued in November 1861. Who will acknowledge its paternity? It is very natural to believe he is now a "red string." Some say he was a stage performer in the late Holdenite Convention in Raleigh. Who is he? L.

The New Orleans Picayune of the 28th says: "We have been eating ripe plums, taken from trees in the open air in our gardens, for over two months, and are just gathering from the trees the last of our oranges of the old crop, and are just passing out of bloom for another. As for green peas, cucumbers, tomatoes, cauliflowers, &c., they have been on hand so long that they have almost passed out of fashion."

An Iowa woman, becoming jealous of her husband, came behind him and bent his head back, kissed him, and immediately afterwards emptied a bottle of vitriol in his face, intending to put out his eyes. She failed in this, but succeeded in burning his forehead and a portion of the scalp in a shocking manner.

Philosophy says that shutting the eyes makes the sense of hearing more acute. A wag suggests that this accounts for the many closed eyes which are seen in our churches every Sunday.

SPLIT.

A friend accuses us of making a split in the Union party, because we do not approve of such political trickery as the convention of March 27th.

If there is any "split" in the party, we are unable to discover it. We have not swerved from the principles we first proclaimed one iota, save in one particular.

While it was an open question, and under consideration by Congress, we did advocate this principle, viz: The act of rebellion disfranchised all who participated in it voluntarily.

We considered this the most logical, the most just, the quickest, the surest and best method of settling the whole question. After Congress had, by direct enactment, enfranchised the greater portion of them, we did not consider it wise, prudent or patriotic to run our bull's head against the Congressional locomotive. We accepted the Sherman Bill, and Supplement, if not as the best plan that could be adopted, at least as the best which has been adopted. Under this we labor for and expect the success of the Union party upon the principles of National Unity, National Prosperity and development, and equal political rights to all men unless forfeited by crime. We understand those to be the principles of the Union party. We have never advocated any other. We believe this principle of "equal rights to all men," and because we believe it, we object to the convention of the 27th. ult., and refuse to recognize it, in any manner, as a legitimate exponent of the Union men of the State. We think we have as much right to select members for a convention, as any committee appointed by any minority, of any illegal legislature. We were not granted that right. The people of Guilford and other counties were not asked to send delegates there, and did not send any. It was simply a piece of bare faced, political knavery, an implication upon the Union men of North Carolina, an admission of the claim of our opponents, that the Union men of the State were a class without influence, intelligence or honesty. It is a stinging insult to the Union men of the State, which will not be forgotten in a day, for a few men to say, as the managers of this convention did, to the Union party: "We will appoint your delegates; we will form your platform; we will designate your committees; we will do all your political work except voting, which Congress has most unfortunately entrusted to your unreliable hands, and then to make all smooth, we will adopt the motto, Liberty, Union, Equality!—i. e. you have "Liberty" to sustain us; you must "unite" in doing so, or we will accuse you of making a "split" in the party; and there will be the same "equality" between us that there is between slaves and masters!!"

That is the language of that convention translated into plain English. If the Union men of the State choose to submit to this language and treatment, and try and wabble through a political canvass with this convention on their shoulders, they can do so, but before they do it, they must abandon the party of Union and clear its first great principle, equal civil and political rights to all men. They must adopt a lie and falsify their own watchword.—Greensboro' Union Register, (Radical.)

ANOTHER POLITICAL MISSIONARY TO THE SOUTH.

The Washington Chroniele says:

"Hon. William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, will leave Philadelphia on Friday next, May 3, for a political tour in the late rebel States.

He will proceed to Wilmington, N. C., via Goldsboro', and from Wilmington direct to Beaufort S. C. From thence he will go to Savannah, Ga., speaking there, and returning North by way of Charleston and Columbia, S. C., and thence to Greensboro', Concord, Salisbury, Charlotte, Danville, and other points in the western part of the old North State. Judge Kelley's labors will begin in North Carolina about Monday, the 6th of May."

FORTHCOMING OPINION OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL ON THE RECONSTRUCTION LAW.—The preparation by the Attorney General of an opinion on the Reconstruction law was undertaken, it is stated, at the request of the President and the Secretary of War, the subject having been discussed at great length in Cabinet meeting. The necessity for having certain clauses of the law clearly defined, especially the disfranchising clause, and that which gives authority to make removals, has been pointed out by at least three of the military commanders. The opinion, it is understood, will be quite lengthy, bearing upon the whole law, instead of being confined to one or two points, and will not be completed before next week, on account of the great addition to the duties of the Attorney General, caused by the injunction cases in the Supreme Court.

THE CASE OF JEFFERSON DAVIS.—Intelligence was received here to-day from Richmond which shows that it is, after all, again in doubt as to whether Judge Underwood will essay the trial of Jefferson Davis at the May term of the United States District Court. If the term be adjourned without such trial, the President has determined at once to release Davis from confinement at Fortress Monroe on nominal bail. The President has in his possession a letter, signed by leading Republicans, asking that Davis be released, and also a proposition from Horace Greeley offering to be one of Mr. Davis' bondsmen.—World.

THE GARDINER WILL CASE.—An important trial was commenced on Wednesday in the Supreme Court, Staten Island, New York, in which the validity of a will made by Juliana Gardiner, is contested by her son, David L. Gardiner. The property, at present valued at $180,000, is in possession of Mrs. Julia Tyler, daughter of the deceased, and widow of the late President John Tyler, who according to the terms of the will is to enjoy the income of the same until she is indemnified for losses sustained to her property in Virginia during the war. Contestants claim she exercised undue influence on the mind of testatrix in order to secure possession of her real estate.

A TRIAL FOR MONSTROUS PARENTAL CRUELTY.—The trial of C. C. Williams, spiritualist, who in January last starved his child, a girl of thirteen years, nearly to death, commenced in the Superior Court at Norwich, Connecticut, on Tuesday. The evidence shows that he kept her in a cold room on water gruel for three weeks, and for three days gave her no food. He gagged her for speaking to him, and, with his alleged paramour, cowhided her some twenty times. The girl escaped by jumping from a third window into a snow bank. The girl testified in court. The defence admits the facts, and pleads insanity. The case goes to the jury to morrow.

THE DEAN-BOKER SLANDER.—The gross and malicious slanders, started by a Philadelphia (radical) paper in relation to Mr. Dean and his wife, have drawn our attention to these persons, and we feel it our duty to state that we have most carefully inquired into the facts, and find that Mr. Dean is in a good and prosperous business in this city, and his wife a most exemplary woman. We hope that those papers which gave publicity to the slander will be assured by us that they have perpetrated a wrong on a pair of worthy persons, and that they will give a wide publicity to their retraction.—World.

THE SENTINEL.

MONDAY EVENING, APRIL 29, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—W. D. Williams will give a suitable reward for the recovery of a mule, that strayed from his saw mill, near Morrisville, on the 20th. instant.

W. H. Morris & Co., No. 18, Fayetteville Street, have secured the services of a No. 1 Upholsterer and will attend to all calls in their line of business. See advertisement.

A pew in Christ Church, Raleigh, is offered for sale or rent, and a lot in the City Cemetery is offered for sale.

MAYOR'S COURT.—David Haley, Co. A., 8th Infantry, was arrested and lodged in the Guard House, for being in the City at 11 o'clock at night, without permission. He was turned over to the Military.

IMPORTANT SALE.—The public will bear in mind that the important sale of material, fixtures, &c., connected with the former Field and Fireside establishment, will commence to-morrow.

NO MAIL TO FAYETTEVILLE.—We regret exceedingly that the direct mail-line between this City and Fayetteville has been discontinued,—the contractor, a man by the name of Edwards, having left and forfeited the contract. Dr. Jobe is using every effort to have the line re-placed, and we hope, at a very early day, to be able to announce that he has succeeded.

RALEIGH wears her gayest costume just at present. If there be a more beautiful place in the country, anywhere, than the "City of Oaks," at this particular season, we have never seen it. The shade-trees have assumed a gorgeous livery, and to one looking over the City from any elevated position,—say from the top of the Capitol,—it seems as if it were literally embowered in a nest of verdure.

In one of Scott's great fictions, the Laird of Dumbiedikes gives this excellent advice to his son Jock: "When you have nothing else to do, Jock, be aye stickin' in a tree; 'twill be growin' while you are sleepin'."—Our "forefathers of the hamlet" acted upon just such a suggestion, and to them are we indebted for what constitutes the ornament and pride of our City,—the beautiful trees which oer-arch our streets. Tend them carefully.

SENATOR WILSON.—We learn from a placard on the streets, that Hon. Henry Wilson, U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, will deliver an address at Tupper's colored Baptist Church to-night. We were in hopes that, when he arrived, arrangements would have been made for him to speak at a time and place where every citizen would be inclined to go to hear him. If he confines his speech-making to Tupper's Church, a large body of our citizens, white and black, will not hear him.

"SOUTHERN ORPHANS' ASSOCIATION."—We have received the new announcement of the Grand Presentation Concert, under the auspices of this Association, to be given on the 17th. day of June. It shall appear to-morrow. The exposition of the recent troubles seems to be satisfactory and is generally so pronounced. Mr. Bragg, the Agent in this City, has received such ample assurances as justify him in resuming the sale of tickets. A diagram of the splendid $30,000 Farm, which is one of the prizes, may be seen on application at the Southern Express Office.

"On the North Carolina table we were shown a cameo likeness of General Lee, executed by Mrs. Rev. Dr. Mason, of Raleigh, N. C. The likeness is accurate, and exquisitely and artistically finished. Mrs. Mason is evidently an artist of high degree."

We copy the foregoing from the Richmond Dispatch's account of the Hollywood Memorial Bazaar. We have previously noticed this beautiful and exquisite piece of workmanship, which, as the Dispatch observes, proves that Mrs. Mason is "an artist of high degree."

BLOODY DOINGS IN MEXICO—VERA CRUZ BOMBARDED—MAXIMILIAN BESIEGED IN QUERETARO, &c.

Letters from Vera Cruz on the 12th and city of Mexico on the 8th have been received. The capture of Puebla by Porfirio Diaz is confirmed, and full particulars are given. The city was taken only after an obstinate contest, and the liberals killed sixty-three of the imperial officers after their surrender. Marquez, who had escaped from Queretaro and arrived at Mexico city, with extraordinary powers conferred by the Emperor, appeared before Puebla soon after its capture with four thousand men, too late, however, to reinforce the garrison. Diaz immediately engaged and defeated him, capturing guns and ammunition, but not Marquez himself. The siege of Vera Cruz was progressing with spirit. Solid shot and shell were being hurled daily into the city, and the condition of the citizens was distressing. A flag of truce had arrived announcing the fall of Puebla and the execution of imperial officers and demanding capitulation, guaranteeing that no lives should be taken among the prisoners if the town surrendered before the 15th instant, but after that no guarantee could be expected. The answer to this communication is not known, but it is reported that another flag, later in the day, was fired upon from the walls. Maximilian was still closely invested in Queretaro, and, among liberals, the opinion prevailed that he would receive the same treatment, in the event of his capture, as had been accorded to the prisoners of Diaz. A portion of Queretaro was besieged by the liberals on the 30th of March, only two streets in the town remaining to the imperialists. The condition of the besieged is represented as horrible, and the speedy capture of the town was regarded as certain. The dead imperialists remained unburied, and the hungry citizens who attempted to leave the town were shot down. The attempted flight of Maximilian is confirmed, and it is further reported that six hundred imperialists succeeded in making their escape.

THE EFFECT OF A EUROPEAN WAR IN THE UNITED STATES.—The stock operators, gold gamblers and the bulls and bears of Wall St. are generally trying to make a great fuss about a war in Europe. Excitement, which produces fluctuations in stocks, bonds and gold, they are always anxiously looking for, and never fail to create it whenever they have the least chance. This is the time of their harvest, but it is a time in which the outsiders, the gudgeons and simpletons, get bit. The prospect of war in Europe has been seized upon by them to create a scare and violent fluctuations of prices. Now, it requires only a small amount of common sense to see that such a war will produce little effect upon the value of things here. There may be at first some slight disturbance in the market, caused more, however, by the stock and gold obbers than from any natural or real cause, but this would only be temporary.

At the Bazaar is a group made of plaster, entitled "Taking the oath and drawing rations." It represents a scene which we fear was too familiar to many a desolate family in the South just after the close of the war. A Federal officer in uniform extends towards a Confederate soldier's widow a Bible, on which she has hesitatingly placed her hand. A ragged little boy, with wan face, looks appealingly up to her, whilst the officer waits for her to take the oath and draw the rations which will prevent starvation. A barrel of "hard bread," on which leans a negro with his basket, completes the group. This group was made in New York and is for raffle.—Rich. Times.

THE VACANT OFFICES.—Attorney-General Stanbery had a long consultation this afternoon with the President as to what course should be pursued with regard to the vacant offices throughout the country. It was decided that none should be closed, but that they should be put in charge of assistants and special agents.—World.

Nothing is now heard about impeachment. The newspapers are silent on the subject, and even the Washington correspondents, hard pressed though they be for items, rarely venture to mention it.

General Ewell is farming most successfully near Spring Hill, Tennessee. He has a thousand head of stock, and the best wheat and grass in the neighborhood.

CHARLESTON, April 28.

The order was complied with, and the celebration was very imposing, attracting thousands of citizens

FROM WASHINGTON—MR. STEVENS vs. SENATOR WILSON.

WASHINGTON, April 28.

Thad. Stevens has written a letter for publication, commenting upon the remarks in Senator Wilson's late speech, at Hampton Roads, in which he said "there would be no impediment to Southern representatives in Congress, if they elected Union men," etc.

Mr. Stevens, in his letter, says: "No man should make promises for the party. By what authority does any one say that, by the election of loyal delegates, they will be admitted? By what authority do they say that Virginia will elect two loyal Senators, when there is no Virginia? Who is authorized to travel through the country and peddle out amnesty? I would say to the most guilty, expect punishment and then quietude. But, first, a mild confiscation, to pay those who have been robbed by disloyal men. These are my wishes, and mine only, perhaps."

GOV. BROWN, OF GEORGIA, ON RECONSTRUCTION.

AUGUSTA, April 28.

Gov. Brown addressed a large meeting of citizens at the Court House last evening. He took the same position as in his Atlanta and Savannah speeches, advised the people to accept the terms of Congress as being the best, and the only hope of Southern restoration. Persistent opposition will exasperate the Northern people and may lead to confiscation. On the other hand, a prompt acceptance of the terms offered will lead to speedy restoration. The address was received favorably.

NEW ORLEANS, April 28.

Hon. Lewis D. Campbell, Minister to Mexico, states that the messenger dispatched by him to Juarez, at San Louis Potosi, with instructions to proceed via Tampico, was advised by General Reynolds, at Brazos Santiago, to proceed overland thence, in consequence of Gomez and Canales being at Tampico with about 4,000 men in the interest of Ortega, though ostensibly in the Liberal interest. Their whole object seems to be to secure the revenues in the Custom House. They refused to obey Juarez's order to join him at Queretaro.

FROM RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, April 28.

A call for a State Convention of Union men, at Charlottesville, on May 29, is being circulated among the members of the Legislature for signatures.

The Legislature has passed to engrossment a bill appropriating $80,000 for the education of both white and black children.

Gen. Schofield to-day served a warning on the Richmond Times, which says that the editorials are likely to create animosity, and its course cannot longer be tolerated.

FOREIGN NEWS.

PARIS, April 27.

The journals assure the public that there will be no war about Luxemburg, as a peaceful solution was about to be found.

The Etendard says that it was not to be affected by the neutralization of the Grand Duchy, as such a proposition would not be accepted on either side. On the other hand, the foreign correspondents of the London journals say: "Though war may be avoided for the moment, it is certain to come."

It is said that Bismarck is anxious for peace, and the Court of Maltki prefers immediate war as Prussia is quite prepared, and has three chances to one over France.

In the Bohemian Diet, ninety of its members firmly protested against the irregularities with which they declared the present electors to have been attended, and, throwing up their posts as deputies, quitted the chamber.

A proclamation has been published in Rome, calling upon the population to use their power against the papal government and promising the support of Garibaldi.

The Presse has a rumor that Bismarck would resign, in consequence of a difference of opinion between himself and the King, the later being unwilling to accept the evacuation of Luxemburg on principle. It was said that Vonder Goltz would succeed Bismark.

A circular from the French war office fixes the price of exemption from military service at 3,000 francs during 1867 and each remaining year at 600 francs.

LONDON, April 27, P. M.

Queen Victoria has written a letter to the King of Prussia, in which she takes ground in favor of the recent and more moderate propositions of France in regard to the disposition of Luxemburg, and advises him to accept the plan of compromise to which Napoleon is not unwilling to accede.

PARIS, April 27, P. M.

It is officially stated that the Emperor has expressed satisfaction with the negotiations now in progress for the settlement of the Luxemburg question.

LONDON, April 28.

At a late hour, last night, the Prussian Government signified, by telegraph, its acceptance of the proposition made by the Queen of England, for a general Conference at London of the great powers to settle the Luxemburg dispute on the basis of neutralization of the Grand Duchy, guaranteed by all the powers represented at the Conference.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 27.

It is said that the Russian Government will receive from the United States a fleet of iron clads, instead of the stipulated sum of money, in payment for the cession of the Russian possessions.

FERTILIZERS

FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery, 225 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

100 Parts Consist of
Moisture	5.30
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	38.50
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	38.90
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	16.50
Salts	20
Insoluble	2.60
	99.90

The animal matter affording 4 3-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

MONDAY, APRIL 29, 1867.

POPPING.

And there they sat a-popping corn,
John Stiles and Susan Cutter;
John Stiles as fat as any ox,
And Susan fat as butter.

And there they sat and shelled the corn,
And raked and stirred the fire,
And talked of different kinds of men,
And hitched their chairs the nigher.

Then Susan, she the pepper shook,
Then John, he shook the popper,
Till both their faces looked as red
As sunsets made of copper.

And so they shelled and popped, and ate—
All kinds of fun a-poking,
While he haw-haw'd at her remarks,
And she laughed at his joking.

And still they popped, and still they ate—
John's mouth was like a hopper—
And stirred the fire, and sprinkled salt
And shook and shook the popper.

The clock struck nine, the clock struck ten,
And still the corn kept popping—
It struck eleven, and then struck twelve,
And still no sign of stopping!

And John, he ate and ate, she thought—
The corn did pop and patter,
Till he cried out, "the corn's a fire!
Why, Susan what's the matter?"

Says she, "John Stiles, its one o'clock;
You'll die of indigestion,
I'm sick of all this popping corn—
Why don't you pop the question?

For the Sentinel.

"ST. ELMO."

In the comfortable parlor at "Loch Maree," before the glowing fire that gleamed o'er the polished hearth upon the crimson rug, while the incessant rain played a tattoo on the window-pane, sat Mrs. Norton and her daughter Fannie. Fannie was reading to her mother in "St. Elmo"—

"Better than glory's pomp will be
That green and blessed spot to me—
A palm shade in eternity."

She clasped the book and exclaimed: "Mother, is not this the book of the age?—Is there any corner of the heart it does not probe? Life with every possible joy and sorrow is revealed, and the soothing consciousness left, that this master spirit has passed it all, unscathed, unharmed, glorified by the ordeal. Bulwer has his masterly stokes of thought and imagery, Hugo his scenes and characters natural as life, but this book, possessing in an eminent degree both of these attributes, has the additional charm of pointing to Heaven from every stand-point."

"Yes, my dear, it is most excellent, and I regret that the appellation, "Novel," which is applied to it, will prevent such ascetics as your uncles Joshua and Caleb from its perusal."

"But the world will read it. The large class of novel readers, who are seeking the 'lastbook', expecting only a feast of loved romance, will here find themselves surrounded by actual men and women, scenes and incidents which cross every one's path, and may, for the first time, receive instruction in those wholesome lessons which so adorn and beautify life. I think the book should be sent broadcast over the land, with a decree that every lady should read it, irrespective of sect or section."

"My daughter, you are enthusiastic in its praise, and, if I mistake not, you declared, before getting half through it, if you were a gentleman, and the authoress was the only woman in the world, you would not marry her."

"Oh! I do think in affairs de cœur her heroine (who I suppose is a counterpart of herself) is too exacting, too wilful. By her stubbornness, she almost caused to plunge again into the vortex of sin and wickedness the most admirable character of the book, St. Elmo."

"I think you are mistaken; it reclaimed him. A mere declaration of love and confession of faults are not a sure proof of reformation, nor justified her in the bestowal of a hand and heart which she intended should crown only the life of the noble."

"But her association with gentlemen throughout is so lofty, so determined, it is unnatural, unwomanly. Her courting tactics are certainly very different from those practiced in our midst, where one bouquet from the sterner sex elicits two from the fair recipient—one smile, a half dozen."

"Yes, and shame upon women for such concessions. If there were more Edna Earls, there would be more St. Elmos—if the prize was held higher, men would climb higher. Your friend Clara Wharton, so noble, so worthy, yet this is her weakness—trying to catch beaux. I noticed her the other evening at Mr. Parrington's, with the gentlemen; how she was divesting herself of that finest charm, independence of character, in her effort to please. And after all, such manœuvering does not take the best; they dislike so much relenting."

"Another objection to the book, Mother; for, though the greatest book out, I think it has faults, and its imperfections are its intense perfections. The objection is that everlasting toil, that indomitable energy which the heroine practices, and which the author holds up for imitation. It is almost inhuman, certainly most unpalatable. It gives no opportunity for an afternoon's snooze, a pleasant reverie, or an aimless ramble."

"And to that 'ever lasting toil' are we indebted for just such prizes as St. Elmo.—Energy is the synonym of success, and when talent uses this instrument of power, such stars as Miss Evans blaze before us. This book certainly uncovers the warm bed of inertia in which our fair country-women are ensconced, and calls them forth to action, to duty, and to usefulness."

"Yes, I've enjoyed exceedingly, while reading it, twinges of conscience in remembering the golden moments I've thrown away upon the stream of time."

"My dear, life is no play thing. In it we have a part to play, a soul to save, and a God to glorify."

"This book, Mother, has made its appearance most opportunely for the South. In her hour of trial, it is a beacon light directing, comforting, cheering. To determine to teach cost me severe struggles, not more to leave home, than fearing its effect upon Walter. To have his betrothed go out in the world a mere hireling, dependent on her wages, I knew was so averse to his aristocratic notions. Now I'm glad of an opportunity to test the sincerity of his affections."

"Indeed you should be. Love is not born of aristocratic notions. It lies deep in the heart, strong, tender, gentle, sweet as 'whispering rain drops!' Besides, Walter has certainly good sense enough to know that the only alternative now left the South for a maintenance, is to work. And, after all, the afflictions of the war, the encroachments of our enemy, may prove a blessing. A bruised flower emits sweetest fragrance. The strength, talent and industry of our land will be aroused, and many an 'Edna Earl' may be produced, and a Benjamin Franklin, George Peabody, or an Andrew Johnson."

Thus communed Mrs. Norton and Fannie, the sole occupants of "Loch Maree." Ere the war blast of 1861, life and gaiety resounded in the old mansion—adown the broad avenue—o'er the green hills and distant parks. Mr. Norton was the prosperous merchant of the adjacent town. His son, Alphonso, with sprightly wit, social manners and amiable disposition, became the favorite of the community. But father and son were sacrificed on their country's altar. Their princely fortune swept away by the ide of war, and now mother and daughter have nothing left but their loving hearts, pure minds, and faith in Him who has promised to be a father to the fatherless, and a friend to the widow.

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the Supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish, or cause to be punished, all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions: Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such convention shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been or modified to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and in all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote, and none others, who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office by the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER
President of the Senate pro tem.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take the obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed shall be preserved among the files of the court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.

Approved July 2, 1862.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplementary to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel states, approved March 2 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, residing in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said state for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any state or of the United States: that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any state, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or co-operation to its enemies; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God."

which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such state by the commanding general, giving to each representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers, or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 23rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required.—In the single item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States.—Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.
